

Andorra
Pett

Murder and mayhem, in space.

Hello and welcome to the first newsletter from the Andorraverse. Your support is appreciated.

I hope you'll enjoy reading Andorra's adventures as much as I've enjoyed writing them.

In case you're interested, as well as Andorra Pett, I also write Science Fiction, Steampunk and Psychological Thrillers. You can find more about them by clicking the button.

In these newsletters, I'll tell you a bit more about Andorra, where I got the ideas from, and give you some behind-the-scenes content.

By the way, if you've enjoyed your free novel, I'd be grateful for a review,

You don't need to have bought the ebook on Amazon to leave a review there.

If you're not happy writing a review like that, just reply to this email and tell me what you thought of it.

A bit more about me.

I spent my working life connected with ships. Either sailing the world on them or piloting them on the River Thames.

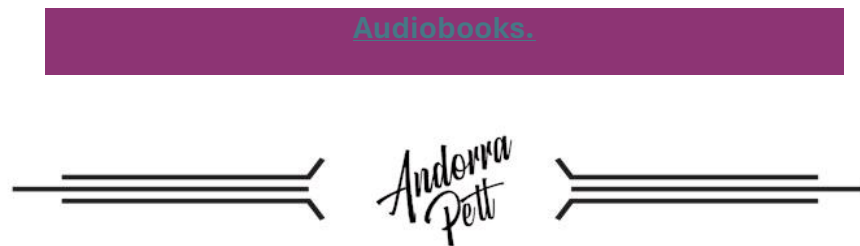

Since I retired from full-time work, as well as writing, I read, cook and walk along the coast near my home in South Devon.

It's a beautiful part of the country.

In case you didn't know, audio versions of the first two Andorra Pett books are also available via Audible.

You can hear chapter one of Andorra Pett and the Oort Cloud Café here.

For this month's extra content, I thought you might like a Q and A with Andorra that's related to the first novel.

So, here's a bit more about Andorra, in her own words.

What is your name?

I'm Andorra Pett, but you can call me Andi. My father worked in Andorra before I was born. Enough said.

What do you look like?

I'm as tall as Napoleon. Alright, I'm short and curvy. My mother said my best feature would be my Queen Anne legs. I think it's my hair. It can be a bit uncooperative, but there's lots of it, it's very dark brown, and it shines. My appearance is not a subject I like to say too much about. On the space station, we don't go in for showing off, it's more of a working gear place. Suits me.

Where are you today, and what are you doing?

I'm orbiting Saturn (on a space station, OBVS), trying to work out what I'm doing here, running a café frequented by truculent miners and their bored wives. Then I remind myself it's better than sitting in Greenwich crying because of the way my life was turning out. At least I'm doing something.

What is your favourite food?

Anything that is moving slowly enough for me to grab. I've never met a calorie I didn't like. My favourites are cake, chocolate, chocolate cake, you get the idea.

What is the worst thing you've had to eat?

My own cooking. My friend Cy reckons that I couldn't do toast without a recipe and a video. When you think about it, opening a café, selling food was the logical thing to do, wasn't it?

Briefly, what is your background, your home, your role in life? Did you have any training for this role?

I was a fairly successful dress designer who fancied a change. No that's not true. I needed a change, thank you, Trevor. As for training, when all else fails, you read the instructions, right?

What is the most exciting thing you've done in your life?

Leaving Earth and cheating Trevor far behind. And now I'm about as far away from him as you can get. It made me feel good at the time, it still does.

You come face-to-face with your worst enemy. How do you react?

Been there, done that. Surprisingly for me, I kept cool and dealt with it. Then I had a good cry when nobody was watching.

Do you have any phobias? What are they, and how intense are they? How have they impacted your life?

I used to be frightened of spiders. I thought there wouldn't be any on a space station. Wrong! I was cured of that phobia, in the best possible way, by Derek.

What's the last thing you do before you go to bed at night?

I used to make sure that I'd locked the doors; now I don't bother. It never seemed to make any difference. It's a long story.

Who is your best friend?

That was Maisie. We grew up together and shared everything. There was a clue, if ever I saw one. We don't talk now. You'd better ask the cheating scumbag, Trevor, why that might be. I don't talk to him any more, either.

What is the one thing you'd most like to change and why?

I wish that people wouldn't be so quick to judge me. OK, I can be a bit clumsy sometimes, or get things wrong, but I work it all out in the end. We can't all be slim and sophisticated, like my sickening sister.

Who would you most like to be with in a life-or-death situation and why?

My best buddy Cy, because he nearly always knows what to do. And he makes me laugh in the face of adversity, so it doesn't seem so bad. He reckons that between us, we make a half-decent detective.

It's the best compliment I've had in ages.

I hope you enjoyed that. Next month, I'll be back with more news and extra content. Meanwhile, if you have any questions or just want to chat about Andorra and her world, reply to this email.

Happy Reading.

Richard.
